Welcome Back to Discovery Museum

August 2020
Discovery Museum has Re-Opened

Discovery Museum has made some changes to help people stay safe from COVID-19. When I visit Discovery Museum, I will see that some things are the same as they were before, and some things are different.

Even though some things will be different, I can still have fun at the Museum!
Bessie the Dinosaur

When I arrive at the Museum,

I can still see Bessie, the friendly dinosaur sculpture.

Now she is wearing a mask!
Masks

All the people at the Museum, who are able to wear a mask, will also be wearing one.

When people wear a mask, I won’t be able to see their nose and mouth, but they can still talk to me.

They might even be smiling under their mask.
Check-In

When it is my time to visit the Museum, I will follow the yellow lines to the Admissions desk and get a sticker.

Then, I will be able to play until my time at the Museum ends.

At the Admission desk, I can ask to borrow noise-reducing headphones and other items that might help me during my visit.
Physical Distancing

It’s important for me to stay close to my group while I am at the Museum. I will stay at least 6 feet away from other people. This will help keep me and the other people safe from COVID-19.

Instead of moving my body close to other people, I can say “hello” or wave to them.

Remember, keep a dino print of space between yourself and others.
Walking Around the Museum

I will see arrows on signs and on the floor.

I will follow the arrows to get where I want to go.
Where can I play?

At each Gallery, there is a sign that shows how many groups can play in that space.

I can look for these signs to find out if there is room for my group to enter.

Or, I can ask my adult, and they will tell me where it is okay to play.
What can I play with?

Most of the exhibits at the Museum are open. A few exhibits are closed for now.

There are also some new exhibits to enjoy.
Museum Staff

People who work at the Discovery Museum are here to help me.

They may wear a name tag, a purple apron, or a blue jacket.

They may say “Hi” to me and can also answer questions.
Time to Leave

When my time to play at the Museum is finished, I can say goodbye and leave with my grown-up. I can come back and have fun at the Museum another day!
